

Calendula Nova

Latin Name

Calendula officinalis
 'Nova'

Pack Size

150 Seeds

Calendula Nova provides eccentricity to the garden throughout summer that you don't often find in an annual plant! A must for those after something that's both hardy and low maintenance for their summer displays. Their unmistakable daisy-shape and bright sunset orange shades make them stand out from the crowd! Sow indoors to start plants early or under cover from February to April or August to September to see them flower from May to September. Sow directly outdoors from April-October. Takes 2-3 weeks to flower from sowing.

Sow Indoors

Feb-April/August-September

Sow Outdoors

April-October

Flowering Time

May-September

J	F	M	A	M	J	J	A	S	O	N	D
□	■	■	■	□	□	□	■	■	□	□	□
□	□	□	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	□	□
□	□	□	□	■	■	■	■	■	□	□	□

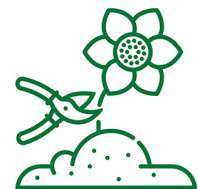

Sowing Instructions

Sow these seeds indoors from february to april or sow straight out in the garden after all threat of frost has passed from April to October.

Cover the seeds with 1/4 inches of fine soil, keeping it moist during germination.

When seedlings are 5-7cm tall, thin to 15-20cm apart. Deadhead spent flowers for a continuous display.

Days to harvest to maturity

15 - 25 days.

Tips

Leave last flowers of the year and these will readily self seed for next year.